COUNTY VOTERS REJECT SCHOOL TAX. LASSITER UNSEATED BY LOVINS; MILLER, BLALOCK, STEELE, HARRIS ARE ELECTED

Control Of Sales Tax Issue Appears To Be A Toss Up

By LIVINGSTON TAYLOR
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Control of the 1970 state Senate on the sales tax issue appeared very much of a tossup today following the defeat of two Democrats backed by Republican Gov. Louie B. Nunn's administration.

Mack Walters of Shelbyville, whom Nunn supported in the 20th District Democratic primary, was an apparent loser to Robert H. Hardy of Frankfort, the 1968 Democratic state campaign chairman. Nomination means election because there is no GOP candidate.

State Sen. J. D. Buckman, D-Shepherdsville, was soundly defeated by William R. Gentry Jr., 40, Bardonia city attorney, 11,394 to 6,651 in the 4th District Democratic primary. Gentry is expected to win easily in November in the heavily Democratic district.

Sports Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK UPI - Perry Como had the same trouble.

He'd do everything so easily and naturally that a lot of people who watched him came away with the idea he wasn't working hard.

Rod Carew knows how it is. The classy Minnesota second baseman is hitting a slick .391, which happens to be only 52 points better than anybody else in the American League, and you have to get a good grip on yourself to believe this, but there are those who still think he's altogether too casual about the whole thing.

All of which bothers Rod Carew.

Hydroplane Regatta Set For June

The world's fastest racing boats will compete for a $21,000 purse Sunday, June 15, as a climax to Owensboro, Kentucky's Unlimited Hydroplane Regatta.

Speeding along the mighty Ohio River at 150 to 200 miles an hour, these major leagues of the boat racing world will traverse a 2 1/2 mile course along Owensboro's downtown waterfront.

As their aircraft-engine power plants rev to the very breaking point these "thunderboats" will streak atop the surface throwing a rooster-tail of water as much as 75 feet into the air and 100 yards behind them.

The five days of the event, June 11-15, will be filled with qualifying races and special events leading up to the Kentucky Governor's Cup race on Sunday.

Unlimited Hydros must weigh at least 5,000 pounds, be 25-40 feet long and be powered by an internal combustion engine that turns a propeller. There the limitations end, hence the term "Unlimited."

Although the design and horsepower of these boats are unrestricted they are similar in construction and most are powered by big 12-cylinder engines that once provided the thrust for the P-38 Lightnings, P-51 Mustangs, P-39 Airacobras, Grumman Bearcats and Hellcats that ruled the skies during World War II. The mortality rate of these engines is high. To get maximum horsepower the engines are run much faster than ever intended by their designers and, due to the terrific strain, cannot be run more than one hour before being completely overhauled. The life of many engines is only minutes.

At racing speed only one fluke of the two-bladed propeller is in the water. One fluke is always out of the water, throwing the gigantic rooster-tail spray. The rooster-tail is not only a colorful sight it is also a weapon. The lead boat can thwart a challenger's play with the effects of this column of water.

Hydroplanes ride on a cushion of air. Only half of the propeller and two pontoonlike spools at either side of the boat come in contact with the water when the boat is planing.

Blefary, Wilson Break Color Line

By DARRELL MACK
UPI Sports Writer

HOUSTON UPI - It started in a tavern in San Angelo, Tex., February, became a reality in the El Cortez Hotel in San Diego and has worked so well that neither man considered it much of an accomplishment even though it is a milestone in baseball.

It is the fact that Curt Blefary, who is white, and Don Wilson, who is a Negro, are roommates when the Houston Astros are on the road.

It is the first time in major league baseball history, according to veteran writers and Astro officials, that a Negro and white player have roomed together.

It's a common-occurrence in pro football and pro basketball, but no Negro since Jackie Robinson broke the color line in 1947 has ever had a white roommate.

Get Along

"It's time all this silly stuff that's been going on for 200 years stopped," Blefary said. "What difference does it make? We get along and that's what counts."

Blefary, an Italian who grew up in Brooklyn, was obtained by the Astros in an off-season trade with the Baltimore Orioles.

Wilson, a hard-throwing right-hander who was born in Monroe, La., has pitched two major league no-hits games-the second coming earlier this season against Cincinnati.

Blefary, Houston's first baseman, said he did not know any of the Houston players when he came down to help the club with a pre-season publicity tour through Texas in February. Wilson and Joe Morgan, who rooms with him, were the other players on the tour.

Just A Comeback

"One night in a bar in San Angelo, Morgan was talking about all the things he and his roomie were going to do together this season," Wilson said. "I said, 'He and Curt will be roomies.' But it was just a comeback."

"Then in spring training, the four of us played pitch cards together," Wilson said. "Curt and I lost $40 to Joe and Jim the first week and lost $20 more trying to get even the second week."

"Both of us were at the fat man's table for over-weight players and they were seriously studying thinking about it," Wilson said. "He asked me about it and I said, 'I'd like to do it, but I didn't know what people would think about it.'"

When traveling secretary Art Perkins asked the players for the first road trip to San Diego, Blefary listed Wilson and no one questioned it.

"I've got one hate letter from someone who didn't have enough guts to sign his name," Wilson said. "Otherwise nothing else has happened except maybe a couple of dirty looks in Atlanta and some people who looked at us kinda funny in an elevator at San Francisco when we called each other 'Roomie.'"

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

National League

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Doug Rader likes surprises-especially the kind he got from Luis Peraza Tuesday night.

Peraza, a 25-year-old rookie reliever for the Philadelphia Phillies, was called on to face Rader with the bases loaded and gave Houston a 6-2 victory.

It was Houston's 18th victory in the last 22 games after the Astros had lost 20 of their first 24. The Astros' surge started with Don Wilson's no-hitter on Monday and continued with the victory against the Phils to boost his record to 5-4 on a six-hitter.

Wilson and Grant Jackson were locked in a 2-2 dual until Jackson was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the top of the ninth. Bill Wilson started the ninth and walked the first three batters before Peraza came on and allowed the winning hit by Rader.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco topped Chicago 5-4, Atlanta beat St. Louis 5-3, Los Angeles beat Montreal 5-3 and San Diego edged New York 3-2.

In the American League, New York topped Chicago 5-3, Kansas City nipped Boston 5-4, Washington beat Minnesota 5-4, California edged Cleveland 2-1, Oakland beat Detroit 4-3 and Seattle drubbed Baltimore 8-1.

San Francisco rallied for three runs in the eighth to beat Chicago as the Giants capitalized on the wildness of the Cubs' two top relievers-Phil Regan and Ted Abernathy. Regan came on the eighth for starter Ferguson Jenkins and walked Ron Hunt and gave up Willie McCovey's single. After Glenn Beckert's wild throw scored a run, Ted Abernathy was called on and walked Bobby Bonds to load the bases. A groundout tied the game. Abernathy then walked Jack Hatt to fill the bases again. He then walked Jim Davenport to force in the winning run.

St. Louis continued to have its trouble. The Cards were beaten by Atlanta, 5-3. Felipe Alou had four straight singles, knocked in a run and scored one to pace Atlanta. Pat Jarvis, 5-2, went 7 1-3 innings to gain the victory. Ray Washburn took the loss.

American League

Tom Haller and Wes Parker homered to back Bill Singer's four-hit pitching and carry the Dodgers past Montreal, Haller's two-run homer in the sixth snapped a 3-3 tie after Montreal had rallied for three runs in the sixth to tie the game. Reliever Dan McGinn was charged with the loss.

Roberto Pena greeted reliever Don Cardwell with a run-scoring single to cap a two-run sixth inning and give San Diego the victory over the Mets. Al Santorini gave up 12 hits and walked two more but still stranded 11 baserunners while going all the way to gain the win and even his record at 2-2. Jim McAndrew, who left in the sixth inning with a blister on his hand, suffered the loss.

American League

Lefty Phillips may have had only 21 days managerial background before taking over the California Angels Tuesday but he seems to have the key to success.

It's a little something called experience.

One of Phillips' first moves upon assuming control from Bill Rigney was to reorganize the starting lineup. He moved Rick Reichardt to first base for the first time in his major league career, inserted 35-year-old Lou Johnson in left field and switched Bubba Morton, 36, to right.

Johnson responded by knocking in both California runs as the Angels snuffed a 10-game losing streak with a 2-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York downed Chicago 5-2, Washington beat Minnesota 5-1, Kansas City edged Boston 5-4, Seattle blasted Baltimore 8-1 and Oakland nipped Detroit 4-3.

In National League play, San Diego squeezed past New York 3-2, Los Angeles damped Montreal 5-3, Atlanta defeated St. Louis 5-3, Houston blasted Philadelphia 6-2 and San Francisco nipped Chicago 5-4 in the only games scheduled.

Morton and Johnson smashed back-to-back doubles for the first California run in the second and Johnson singled home Reichardt from third in the seventh with the deciding run.

"This had to be the most exciting moment of my life," said Phillips.

Phillips climaxed his official managerial debut by calling in 45-year-old Hoyt Wilhelm in the eighth. Wilhelm pitched two innings of hitless relief, struck out three and recorded his eighth save of the season in preserving Jim McGlothlin's fourth victory against three defeats.

Mel Stottlemyre smashed a two-run homer in the eighth inning to tie the Yankees over the White Sox and become the first major league pitcher to win eight games.

With the score tied at 3-3, Frank Hernandez opened the eighth with a single and two outs later, Stottlemyre drove Wilbur Wood's first pitch into the lower deck in left field for the third homer of his major league career.

Brant Alyea blasted a 450-foot homer-a two-run shot in the first inning-to help the Senators snap a six-game losing streak with their victory over the Twins. Alyea homered after Frank Howard reached first on Leo Cardenas' error. Eddie Brinkman also drove in two runs for Washington.

Jackie Hernandez blooped a two-run single over first base with two out in the seventh inning, capping a three-run rally that carried the Royals past the Red Sox.

Sal Bando's bases empty homer in the seventh inning broke a 3-3 tie and powered Oakland over the Tigers, snapping the Athletics' six-game losing streak.

Tommy Davis' two-run single highlighted a five-run fifth inning rally and Ray Oyler, Mike Hegar and Gerry McNertney hit 5 solo homers to pace Seattle over the Orioles.

Gil Hodges holds the major league record for most sacrifices flies hit in one season with 19 in 1954.

The New York Mets have never won an opening day game in their eight-year history in the National League.

College football attendance during the 1968 season climbed to a record high of 27 million.

Contest prize irks her mate

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My wife took a secretarial job with an insurance company just to keep herself busy as the kids are grown and gone. Suddenly she announces that she and a man she works with are going on a weight losing contest. The one who loses the most weight in 30 days has to treat the other one to a steak dinner in the best restaurant in town. [Just the two of them.] I trust my wife, but I don't like the idea of her going out to dinner with another man. He's married, too, but I understand his wife is all for it as she'll do anything to get him to lose weight.

Should I go along with this "contest" or not?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: It sounds like a fun kind of contest with a healthy objective. Give them your blessings and may the biggest loser win.

DEAR ABBY: Recently, I overheard my teen-age son telling a friend that the two teen-age daughters of a good friend of mine were having sexual relations with the two sons of a woman who is a mutual friend of both the mother of the girls and myself.

When I asked my son how he came by this information, he said the two boys had been bragging about it at school. My son asked me not to tell anyone but I have not, as yet, agreed. I told him I would have to think about it.

Abby, I have never believed in interfering in the lives of my friends but I wonder if I would be a true friend to the two mothers if I just keep quiet. By speaking out, I could either be instrumental in helping all concerned avoid a tragedy, or I could lose two friends.

Consequently, I have decided to ask your advice and then follow it. Of course, I do not know that the boys' boasts are even true, but I do know that the boys and girls have been dating.

CONCERNED PARENT

DEAR CONCERNED: Now would be a good time to tell your son that a man of character NEVER—but NEVER—repeats ugly rumors. And if I were you, I'd remain silent.

DEAR ABBY: Now that the summer season is soon upon us how about some help from you for us poor souls who have summer cottages?

We've had our cottage 10 years and each summer we are more popular than the summer before. Friends and relatives come in droves to enjoy themselves in the sun over our food and drink. They stay anywhere from a week-end to a full week. Of course, they always come empty-handed.

We have even written notes in advance saying "We are sorry, but we can't have you this year."—but they come anyway. Why are some folks so thick? We bought this place to get away from these people.

We don't want to seem cranky, but we'd like to entertain the guests we really WANT, without all these others "surprising" us. We're tired of running a free hotel, and are thinking of selling. Can you help us?

FED UP IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR FED UP: If you've actually written to say you can't have them—and they come anyway—your only salvation is to develop a thicker hide than they have. Greet the unwelcome ones at the door with, "You may stay for a few hours, but when the sun disappears, please do likewise."

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

For the surf and sand set, fashions for men this summer turn to bright and bold themes. Prints used in both swim trunks and slacks are large, flamboyant, colorful. The jeans look also is strong with the boys. Now, they won't have to chop off their blue or wheat jeans to convert them to surfers and swimmers. Some manufacturers are making them in the popular chopped-off look.

In Time of Emergency

Usual Fire Precautions Vital in Nuclear Attack

Fire, the great help and hazard to mankind, would prove so again during and after a nuclear attack.
While a nuclear attack might start many more fires, and make it less likely that regular firemen would be available to fight home fires, the same techniques of fire prevention and firefighting would be as useful during a nuclear emergency as at any other time.

Normal fire prevention rules would be of special importance in a nuclear emergency. They include familiar common sense precautions such as not allowing trash to accumulate, especially near heat sources; exercising extreme caution in the use of flammable fluids such as gasoline and naphtha, including storage of such fluids outside when possible; care in the use of electricity; repairing of faulty wiring and avoiding of overloaded circuits, and repair of faulty heating systems.

Special Fire Precautions
These special fire precautions should also be taken in a time of nuclear emergency, especially by those using a home shelter:

1. Keep the intense heat rays of nuclear explosions from entering your house by closing doors, windows, and venetian blinds. If windows are not fitted with venetian blinds,

FORTY WINKS FOR FIFTEEN MINUTES

How many people over forty do you know who could fall asleep in the middle of a busy afternoon? How many could fall asleep within five minutes and wake up in fifteen minutes completely refreshed and ready to go? Unfortunately, not many! Relaxation is truly an art, and not many people have mastered it.

Many of the Asiatics live by
it. Through what they call "meditation," which in many cases has become part of their religion, they have gained the health benefits of relaxation.

Relaxation is important to the human body and mind. It is especially important in our society with its fast pace and its energy-depleting way of life. It allows you to put aside tensions, escape from worries, or at least put them into their proper perspectives.

When or how you relax is not as important as finding a way to do it. Some executives take five to fifteen-minute cat-naps once or twice during the course of a day. They tip their chairs back, close their eyes, and relax briefly. Others who have more demanding jobs relax immediately upon coming home in the evening or during lunchtime. Some people call it "think time"; some call it sleep; and others point to it jokingly as "goof off" time. Whatever it is called, it is a period of relaxation for revitalization and recharging of the body. It has been proved to be valuable as a means to increased health for the employee and more production for the employer.

Just as exercise is essential for the body and mind, so is relaxation and rest for the promotion of good health. Your doctor or chiropractic urges you to master the art of relaxation through control of your physical structure.

(A PUBLIC SERVICE MESSAGE FROM THE AMERICAN CHIROPRACTIC ASSOCIATION)

cover the inside or outside of the windows with aluminum foil, or coat the glass with whitewash, household cleaning powder, or even mud.

2. Unless local authorities advise otherwise, fill buckets, bathtubs and other containers with water for use in emergency fire fighting.
3. If you have taken refuge in a home fallout shelter, stay there unless you hear an explosion that breaks windows. If you do, check to make sure nothing in your home is burning, and there are no other fires near your home that might endanger you.

If a fire does occur, fight it promptly. A home might be saved by knowing how to fight fires, and by having on hand some basic firefighting tools.
These should include a garden hose (preferably already connected), a ladder, buckets filled with water, and a fire extinguisher. Keep in mind that vaporizing-liquid types of fire extinguishers can produce dangerous fumes when used in small enclosed spaces.

Three Ways to Put Out Fire

There are three basic ways to put out a fire:

1. Take away its fuel.
2. Take away its air
(smother it).
3. Cool it with water or fireextinguisher chemicals.

Ordinary fires should be fought by:

• Getting the burning material out of the house.
• Putting out the fire with water, sand, earth or fireextinguisher chemicals.
• Smothering the fire with a rug or blanket, preferably wet.
Special types of fires require special methods:

• If it is an electrical fire, be sure to shut off the electricity first. Then put out the flames with water or anything else available. If it is impossible to shut off the electricity, don't use water on an electrical fire due to danger of electrocution.

• If it is an oil or grease fire, shut off the supply of whatever is burning. Then smother the flames with sand, earth, rugs, or other heavy materials. Don't use water.
• If it is a gas fire, shut off the gas supply. Then use water, sand or earth to put out whatever is burning.

fense, Office of Civil Defense, to prepare people with more detailed survival instructions for this area. The information was lication "In Time of Emergency" (H-14), which is

Courage And Gall Needed For Movies

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD — Behind the bravado of Hollywood filmmakers lies a ton of timidity fortified only by stupendous gall.

Frequently when a studio chief or an independent producer completes a film he has no idea whether it will be a hit or a bomb. And none of his underlings dares tell him the truth.

Only the publicity department is certain beyond doubt that every movie is the greatest thing since the invention of the magic lantern.

There are three classic cases at one studio alone that exemplify the underhandedness of the scientists who bestow great works of cinematic art on an unsuspecting public.

Studio is Paramount.

The pictures were "Going My Way," "Shane," and "The Graduate." In all three cases studio bigwigs were terrified they had produced catastrophes and attempted to unload them on their brethren in the movie-making business.

When director Leo McCarey completed "Going My Way" with Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald as priests, the late Frank Freeman blew his stack. He told McCarey that folks down South didn't cotton to priests and that he would lose his shirt.

Freeman refused to pay McCarey his director's salary, insisting instead that the director accept a percentage of the profits, if any.

"Freeman forced me into becoming a millionaire," McCarey said after the film went on to win the Oscar, along with awards for Crosby and Fitzgerald. McCarey won the Oscar in addition to millions.

Then there was the case of George Stevens and "Shane." When Stevens turned in his print of the Western the corporate structure at Paramount was struck with a massive case of St. Vitus Dance. They believed, collectively, that Stevens had lost his mind.

Tried to Unload
The studio negotiated with United Artists to buy the picture at cost. Paramount just wanted to unload the stricture and get its money back. But United Artists wasn't having any. Clearly, the brains at UA knew a turkey when they saw one too.

With a tear in its corporate eye Paramount released "Shane" and waited for the bomb to explode.

It did. With shattering effect. "Shane" became a classic Western and earned as much money as any horse opera that ever thundered out of a sound stage. Finally, and recently, director Mike Nichols turned out an unpretentious little picture titled "The Graduate" starring a couple of unknown kids, Dustin Hoffman and Katherine Roman.

Once again the bosses had a stroke. "What is this?" they cried, or something like that. All they could see was ruin and disgrace.

"The Graduate" caught on with young people and currently is chasing "Gone With the Wind" and "Sound of Music" as the most successful box-office picture ever made.

It would seem to prove one thing—there's a world of difference between courage and gall.

A 12.9 per cent gain in personal income was shown by Florida in 1968.

DEATH TO LIFE—Fred Esh-erick Jr., 17, looks solemn in court in Painesville, Ohio, as he is sentenced—a reduction of death in the electric chair to life in prison—in the May 1967 bayonet slaying of his adoptive father. At 16 he was the youngest ever to occupy a cell in Ohio Penitentiary's death row.

Income Tax Questions and Answers

Q — I received a reminder notice on my estimated tax instead of a bill. How much should I pay?

A — Figure your second installment payment using the estimated tax worksheet you received in February as part of your estimated tax package. Be sure to make your payment using preaddressed Voucher 2. The filled-out voucher should accompany your payment to assure proper crediting to your account.

A schedule on the worksheet can be used for adjusting your estimated tax if there have been changes in your tax situation.

Q — It only took my neighbor 4 weeks to get his refund but mine hasn't come and it's been over a month since I sent in my return. Why should my refund take longer to issue than his?

A — The date the return was filed has a lot to do with how long it takes to issue a refund. Returns filed early can be processed and the check issued much more quickly than returns received just before the April 15 deadline.

Unless you made a mistake on your return you should be receiving your refund check within the next few weeks. However, if the refund, or a letter about it, doesn't come within ten weeks from the time you filed, write the Internal Revenue Service Center where you filed. Give your name, address, social security number and the date you filed to help them trace it.

Q — I lined the property around my home with rose bushes. Can I deduct the cost for tax purposes?

A — Landscaping expenses can be capitalized and added to the cost of your property. Normal maintenance costs of your shrubs and lawn, however, are not deductible.

Q — Is there any difference between alimony and child support payments for tax purposes?

A — Alimony payments are deductible for the payer and are taxable income to the recipient. Child support payments are not deductible for the payer and are not taxable to the recipient.

Q — I'm earning money not covered by withholding. Should I file an estimated tax return now or wait until next year?

A — If you expect your 1969 tax liability to exceed your withholding by $40 or more you may have to file an estimated tax declaration. Forms and filing instructions are available from your local IRS office.

If you first meet the requirement for filing after April 1 and before June 2, the declaration should be filed by June 15.

Q — Does an extension of time to file excuse a taxpayer of interest charges on late payments?

A — No, interest at the rate of six percent a year must be added to taxes that are not paid by the filing deadline. However, no delinquent filing charge is added when the taxpayer has been granted an extension of time to file.

Q — Can Form 1040X be used to correct a mistake on a 1040-A?

A — Yes, Form 1040X (Amended U.S. Individual Income Tax Return) should be used to correct mistakes made by taxpayers filing either Form 1040 or 1040-A.

To help alleviate meal-time clutter, try relocating seldom used items from an under-the-kitchen-sink cabinet and replace them with a pail or deep dishpan. Half fill this with hot soap or detergent suds before serving a meal, to function as a convenient hide-away that solves several problems. As food is served, put each pan or skillet into the sudsy water for a pre-soak that makes later cleaning easier.

RECORDS

POPULAR

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER.

NEW YORK (UPI) — When the Limelites broke up their trio in the summer of 1963, the recording industry lost the most articulate spokesmen seemingly for all generations.

Lou Gottlieb, Glenn Yarbrough and Alex Hassilev felt they had accomplished their objective as purveyors of sophisticated folk music, so they went their separate ways. Only Yarbrough continued as an artist, although Hassilev cut a very good LP for RCA Victor.

Now the Limelites feel the time has come for them to make second cycle and they have begun it with an album which they call "Time to Gather Seeds" (Warner Bros. - Seven Arts WS 1762). Time has not affected the compatibility of the Limelites, as all seven numbers in this album are performed with unusual cohesion. It is mostly ensemble singing even though Yarbrough and Hassilev break out for solos. What is missing is the biting wit of Gottlieb, which made the Limelites' early LPs distinctive.

The last three numbers — "Were You in Berlin?", "The General" and "A Hundred Men" — contain provocative lyrics that recall memories of the unpleasant past and the uncertain future. It is hoped the Limelites will stay together for a long time as they have something unusual to offer.

One of their earlier albums, "Those Were the Days," has been re-issued (RCA Victor LSP-4100). It is interesting to compare this record with "Time to Gather Seeds."

CONCERT

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — As recording artist, Leontyne Price is competing with herself. In 1954 she recorded the Hermit Songs of Samuel Barber and last year she recorded Barber's "Knoxville-Summer of 1915." Both have hit the market at the same time, the former as a re-issue of "a legendary performance."

The new Price recording also is of two scenes from Barber's abortive opera, "Anthony and Cleopatra," with which the Metropolitan Opera opened its new opera house. Both are strident without being memorable. For that one may blame the composer. Unhappily her Knoxville interpretation sounds strained from overdrawing. Barber can't be blamed for that. (RCA 3062)

Especially when Eleanor Steber's "legendary" performance of 1950 is at hand for comparison, on the same record with Miss Price's 1954 singing of the Hermit Songs (Odyssey-32160230). Miss Steber holds Miss Steber holds back, by comparison; she has emotional leisure to make emotional points. Barber's lengthy essay for soprano and orchestra is flattered. But Miss Price's singing of the Hermit Songs give them a haunting quality. It, too, is at least an approximation of "legendary."

Season before last Hermann Frey was the Papageno in the Metropolitan Opera's new production of Mozart's "The Magic Flute." It is a pity he was not retained in the company for other Mozart roles, as a recording of his will convince you. In it he sings not only Papageno's arias, but baritone arias from "Cosi Fan Tutte," "Don Giovanni" and "The Marriage of Figaro," with the Dresden State Opera Orchestra. Now, here's a Mozartean singer for you! (Angel-36481).

One of the better of the recording stunts brought together the brass choir of the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Chicago Symphony and the Cleveland Orchestra to record the antiphonal music of the 16th century Giovanni Gabrieli which was written in the Greek modes, with amazing modulations (Columbia-7209). This massed six trumpets, three french horns, five trombones, and two euphoniums. (For reasons unexplained the second trombone and euphonium of the Cleveland Orchestra were omitted.) Such an assemblage will fill any room and any head with brassy chromatics and counterpoint patterned by an immortal in the trade.

Right now he's in a big box. What we do next, we don't know.

Well, the county school tax was defeated. Whether the tax was a good idea or not, the people have the opportunity to decide for themselves, and that is the way it should be.

We guess the city system will proceed now with their own plans to build a new city high school. We feel it was a great opportunity to erase any differences or feeling between city and county, however many thought otherwise.

Coming to work this morning, Blue Bird was sitting up high on a utility line, and a Meadow Lark was hunkered over atop a fence post.

Nice conversation with Stark Erwin this morning at breakfast. He's a hard working fellow.

Darrel Shoemaker had an operation this morning over at Fuller Morgan in Mayfield. Good luck Darrel.

Clyde Steele will get to enjoy the tree he put out when he was jailer. The Golden Chain tree in the southeast corner of the court yard was put out about four years ago.

ONE OF THOSE DAYS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. UPI — Rookie Policeman Duane Williams said today he knew there would be bad days in his new job but he didn't expect one so soon.

His first assignment on full duty after completing his recruit training was to investigate a prowler call.

Teen Leader Forum Is Scheduled

Interpersonal relationships with the theme "Youth Wants to Know — What It's All About" will be the topic of a Teen Leader Forum at Western Kentucky 4-H Camp. The camp, located in Dawson Springs, will be opened to young people over 14 years of age and will not be limited to 4-H members as it has been in the past.

The forum was asked for by teens, planned by teens, and will be staffed by teens. West Kentuckians who helped are: David Harrison, Farmington; Gail Smith, Cuba; Patricia Harrison, Farmington; Gordon Samples, Clinton; Debby Quinton, Kew; Teresa Turner, Le-Center; Jill Horning, Princeton; Dana Harless, Cadiz; Jill Watson, Princeton; and Tommy McGinnis, Hopkinsville.

The purpose of the camp is to get teen-agers to think and to understand themselves. "It was the committee's feeling that before you can understand others, you must first understand yourself," said David Harrison.

Interpersonal relationships include boy-girl relations, family relations, and relations with minority groups. Miss Harrison stated, "There is a very real personal element involved. Until an individual decides for himself what is right or wrong and why, he cannot help other people."

"Teen Leader Forum-69" will be held from June 29-July 3. It is planned to have both morning and afternoon assemblies. Afterwards, campers will divide into groups of ten to discuss the session's topic.

Campers are assured, however, that the week will not be completely filled with meetings. The recreational facilities of Western Kentucky 4-H Camp will be opened to them. These facilities include games, sports, nature hike, handicrafts, swimming and others.

Miss Smith added, "I would not miss it for the world. For fun, excitement and new experiences, you could not beat the first 'Teen Leader Forum'."

The forum is for leaders of groups as well as club leaders. Senior 4-H'ers are urged to attend this camp and to invite other school and community leaders.

The camp fee is $15 plus transportation expenses. There is room for 200 teen leaders. Applications to "Youth Wants to Know — What It's All About" can be obtained at the Extension Office.

the office of County Attorney and Huel Jones was unopposed for the post of County Jailer. Charles E. Hale had no opposition in his race for Tax Commissioner.

Mayor Holmes Ellis was re-elected without opposition and Paul Shapiro was unopposed for the post of City Prosecuting Attorney.

Max H. Churchill had no opposition in his race for Calloway County Coroner.

One of the most hotly contested issues in the primary was the school tax issue. Had it passed, the county school system and the city school system would have been merged. It was planned to eliminate present county elementary schools which are in poor condition, and construct two new buildings. A new high school was planned for the city and with present buildings to be used as junior high buildings.

With the tax issue being defeated, the city school system apparently will go ahead with plans to construct a new city high school on the Pullen property on Doran Road. The city system had halted plans on the new building when the possibility of merger with the county system became feasible. The delay will place use of the new proposed building forward about one year and possibly add an extra cost of $40,000 or more because of the increased cost in construction.

Calloway County fielded the largest number of candidates for Sheriff in some time. Clyde Steele was the winner with John Watson second, Lowry Parker third. Other candidates were J. C. Major, James E. King and Lance E. Booth. The election of Mrs. C. C. Lowery and Mrs. Opal Smith placed two women on the City Council for the first time in the city's history. Mrs. Lowery is a past president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs and Mrs. Smith is a restaurant operator.

Farm Equipment Loan Program Will Be Changed

Changes will be made in the farm storage and drying equipment loan program effective May 30, according to Ollie C. Hall, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

The changes are being made in order to slow down the rapid acceleration of the program and reduce Government expenditures as an aid in the fight against inflation.

The changes will affect applications approved by the county committee after May 29, 1969. Farmers who have unfilled applications which can be completed should file them immediately if they wish the county committee to take action on them before May 30.

Ira Holland Dies In Texas

Ira Holland, 83, died Monday in Amherst, Tex.

A native of Calloway County, he moved to Texas when he was a young man.

Survivors include two sons, Prentice Holland and James Craig Holland, both of Amherst; four grandchildren, and two nieces, Mrs. Early Davis and Mrs. Tandy Smith, both of Paducah.

LONG WAY FROM HOME — Donald Chell (left) displays this balloon and black box he found on his farm in Grantsburg, Wis. An attached note reads, "As a favor to us will you return to Vandium Industries, 257 Nunoa, Iquitos, Loreto, Peru." County Sheriff Lloyd Erickson (middle) and volunteer U.S. weather observer Evelyn Larson claim the object.

Regional Welfare Association Will Meet At Hoptown

The Annual Regional Conference of the Kentucky Welfare Association will be held on June 6, at the Hopkinsville Community College in Hopkinsville. The meeting will begin at 9:00 a. m. with registration and coffee, to be followed by a General Session and later by Seminar and Panel Discussions.

The theme of this year's conference, "Every Kentuckian Counts" is loaned to KWA by the Honorable Louie B. Nunn, Governor of the Commonwealth. Keynote speaker for the conference is the Honorable Tim Lee Carter, Representative for the Fifth U.S. Congressional District which is a part of the region represented.

The Kentucky Welfare Association is now in its 58th year and represents all Kentuckians who are concerned with problems and their solutions which tend to beset families and individuals in Kentucky.

The fee for registration, meal and seminar is $5.00. The general public is invited to attend and to share in the discussion.

Control Of

ators who voted for Nunn's 5 per cent sales tax bill in 1968, Buckman was the only one who had to face the voters Tuesday. Three chose not to run and four are hold overs.

To the four holdover, Nunn can add from 12 to 14 Republican Senate votes, depending on the GOP's fortunes in November. Twenty votes are needed for a majority in the Senate.

The Republicans held 14 seats in 1968, but two GOP senators are vulnerable to Democratic gains this fall — Clyde Middleton of Port Mitchell and Vernon McGinty of Louisville.

Add to this the fact that one Republican holdover, Sen. Donald Johnson of Newport, voted against the sales tax increase last year, and the importance which Nunn attached to the Buckman and Walters races becomes clearer.

The GOP's hopes of winning Democratic seats rest in the 18th District, where Republican George M. Plummer of Vanceburg faces Sen. James E. Lewis, D-Sandy Hook, and the 32nd, where Ray B. White takes on Sen. Floyd Hays Ellis, D-Bowling Green.

Both Lewis and Ellis easily won re-election Tuesday. Nunn has placed special emphasis on the Senate because his chances of keeping control there seem much better than in the House.

In the House primaries Tuesday, several Democrats who voted for the governor's sales tax bill in 1968 were defeated. Rep. Fred Morgan of Paducah, whom Nunn wooed to his side despite Morgan's job as Democratic floor leader, was upset by David Carter, 42, a Paducah developer, by 400 votes. Morgan had served 10 terms in the House.

Other "sales tax Democrats" who apparently met defeat in their party's primary included Reps. Needham Saylor of Harlan County, Charlie Lassiter of Murray, and Sherman Arnett of Rowan County.

Other incumbents defeated or trailing in incomplete returns included Sen. William C. Mann, R-Burkesville and Reps. Ed Kawahara, D-Hazard and Richard Hopkins, D-Calhoun.

Rep. Howard Hunt, Jr., D-Danville, chairman of the Legislative Audit Committee, held only a 10-vote margin over Cecil Arnold of Lancaster in unofficial totals from Boyle and Garrard counties.

Shipments, valued at $3.5 million, went to 43 countries, according to the Rev. Dr. LWF World Service director. He said there is a growing emphasis on development programs but "there is still a need for material relief in many emergency areas and areas of need."

Mixed Marine
OSLO (UPI) — There were 37,504 sailors, including 4,800 women, in the Norwegian merchant marine as of Nov. 1, 1968, according to latest statistics.

Barbecue Warning
ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — If you want food barbecued this summer, make sure the cooking is done outside.

State health officials warn that utilizing open flame broiling or barbecuing devices indoors could cause asphyxiation. Charcoal, they warn, generates large amounts of carbon monoxide.

Eating Western Style
TOKYO (UPI) — High schools in Japan teach their senior year students how to eat with knife, fork and spoon.

In the weeks before graduation, schools take seniors to hotels for Western-style dinner and pointers on how to use the tableware.

Chowhound Test
CHICAGO (UPI) — To find out how much your dog should eat you should weigh him, a pet food manufacturer advises, and then determine if he's a worker or a sifter.

A "working" dog — a rabbit hound or a bird dog, for instance — weighing about 70 pounds, will require about the same caloric intake as a 150-pound man, according to the company. On the other hand, a 70-pound "sit-around-the-house" type needs only the calories required by a 120-pound woman.

Dutch Car Loans
In Sharp Increase

THE HAGUE (UPI) — Credit on passenger cars in Holland rose almost 50 per cent in 1968 to a total of about 1.4 billion guilders ($390 million), according to the National Statistics Agency.

Asparagus Planting
COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Asparagus should be planted with the crowns spaced about 18 inches apart in four or five foot rows, in trenches 6 to 8 inches deep and covered with 2 inches of soil.

A report released by James D. Utzinger, Ohio State University horticulturist, explained that at least six square feet of growing space is required for each plant.

THE WORLD'S BIGGEST statue of Abraham Lincoln goes up in Charleston, Ill., site of the Lincoln-Douglas debate. It is 66 feet high and weighs eight tons—fiberglass and steel. That's the head in foreground.

In Time of Emergency

People in Shelter Would Be On Own, But Could Manage

Persons in a home fallout shelter after a nuclear attack would be largely on their own. Unlike public shelter occupants, those in home shelters would have to take care of themselves, and subsist on the supplies they themselves had previously stocked.

It is likely that major problems would be managing water and food supplies, sanitation, fire prevention (and possibly fire fighting), deciding when to leave shelter, and perhaps taking care of someone who was injured or sick.

Care and Use of Water Supplies

The average person in a shelter would need at least 1 quart of water or liquid per day to drink, but more would be useful to allow for washing, etc. Therefore, a rationing plan might be required in home shelter to make available liquids last for 14 days. In communities which continue to have drinkable water available, families could relax their rationing plan.

In addition to water stored in containers, there is usually other water available in most homes that is drinkable, such as water (20 to 60 gallons) in the hot water tank, in the flush tanks (not the bowls) of home toilets, and in the pipes of a home plumbing system.

In a time of nuclear attack, local authorities may instruct householders to turn off the main water valves in their homes to avoid having water drain away in case of a break.

How to Purify Water

If necessary, "suspicious" water, such as cloudy water from regular faucets or perhaps some muddy water from a nearby stream or pond, can be used after it has been purified. This is how to purify it:

1. Strain the water through a paper towel or several thicknesses of clean cloth to remove dirt and fallout particles, if any. Or else let the water "settle" in a container for 24 hours, by which time any solid particles would have sunk to the bottom. A handful of clay soil in each gallon of water would help this settling process.

2. After the solid particles have been removed, boil the water if possible for 3 to 5 minutes, or add a water-purifying agent to it. This could be either: (a) water-purifying tablets, available at drug stores, or (b) 2 percent tincture of iodine, or (c) liquid chlorine household bleach, provided the label says that it contains hypochlorite as its only active ingredient. For each gallon of water, use 4 water-purifying tablets, or 12 drops of tincture of iodine, or 8 drops of liquid chlorine bleach. If the water is cloudy, these amounts should be doubled.

There would not be much danger of drinking radioactive particles in water, as they would sink quickly to the bottom of the container or stream. Very few would dissolve in the water. Although open reservoirs might contain some radioactive iodine in the first few days after an attack, this danger is considered minor except to very young children.

Food also should be rationed carefully in a home shelter, to make it last for at least a 2-week period of shelter occupancy. Usually, half the normal intake would be adequate, except for growing children or pregnant women.

In a shelter, it is especially important to be sanitary in the storing, handling and eating of food to avoid digestive upsets or other more serious illness, and to avoid attracting vermin. Be sure to keep all food in covered containers, keep cooking and eating utensils clean, and keep all garbage in a closed container, or dispose of it outside the home when it is safe to go outside. If possible, bury it.

Avoid letting garbage or trash accumulate inside the shelter, both for fire and sanitation reasons.

Emergency Toilet Facilities

In many home shelters, people would have to use emergency toilets until it was safe to leave shelter for brief periods of time.

An emergency toilet, consisting of a watertight container with a snug-fitting cover, would be necessary. It could be a garbage container, or a pail or bucket. If the container is small, a larger container, also with a cover, should be available in which to empty the contents for later disposal. If possible, both containers should be lined with plastic bags.

This emergency toilet could be fitted with some kind of seat, especially for children or elderly persons. The seat from a regular toilet could be detached and used, or a seat might be improvised from a wooden chair by cutting a hole in it.

and placing the container underneath. For privacy, the toilet could be screened from view.

Every time someone uses the toilet, he should pour or sprinkle into it a small amount of regular household disinfectant, such as cresol or chlorine bleach, to keep down odors and germs. After each use, the lid should be put back on.

When the toilet container needs to be emptied, and outside radiation levels permit, the contents should be buried outside in a hole 1 or 2 feet deep. This would prevent the spread of disease by rats and insects. If the regular toilets inside the home, or the sewer lines, are not usable for any reason, an outside toilet should be built when it is safe to do so.

If anyone has been outside and fallout particles have collected on his shoes or clothing, he should be brushed off before he enters the shelter area again.

When to Leave Shelter

Shelter occupants should not come out until they are told by authorities that it is safe to do so. Special instruments are needed to detect fallout radiation and to measure its intensity. Unless the shelter contains these instruments, occupants will have to depend on local government to tell them when to leave shelter. This information probably would be given on the radio, which is one reason why a battery-powered radio should be available in the shelter area.

Persons who come out of shelter too soon, while the fallout particles outside are still highly radioactive, might receive enough radiation to sicken or even kill them.

Fallout particles can be seen, but the rays they give off cannot be seen. If unusual quantities of gritty particles can be seen outside on window ledges, sidewalks, car, etc., after an attack, assume that they are fallout particles, and therefore stay inside shelter until told it is safe to come out.

The information in this story was furnished by the U.S. Department of Defense, Office of Civil Defense, to prepare people for a nuclear attack and learn what actions to take in case an attack should occur. Local government authorities are responsible for supplying the public with the information in this area. The information was drawn from the OGD publication "In Time of Emergency" (H-14), which is available without charge at local civil defense offices.

Tap Deck - The original soundtrack tape of "Oliver," which won the most Oscar nominations for 1968, seems to have a purer sound or tpe than on the original soundtrack disc. Ron Moody's role of Fagin, the one he created in the London production, appears more alive and believable. (Colgems CG03-1002). "The Book of Taliesyn" by Deep Purple is an excellent eight-track cartridge for auto and home players (Tetragrammaton TMM 8107).

Hit Series Often Needs A Facelift

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD UPI — Maintaining a hit television series over the years often requires a facelift for a show. Many series returning next season have undergone format surgery. And sometimes the human problems involved are similar to those that any company personnel director would understand.

Some years back, for instance, "Gunsmoke" seemed to be in real trouble when Dennis Weaver — the famed "Chester" of the show — decided he had enough of the part and quit.

After careful screening, a fellow named Ken Curtis was promoted into prominence on the program, and now his role of "Festus" has made audiences forget Chester.

"I Love Lucy" was one of video's all-time hits, but when the star, Lucille Ball, and her co-star — her husband Desi Arnaz — broke up, there were those who wondered whether the comedienne could maintain her popularity. She has, of course, in several variations on her original series, including the latest, which features her children by Desi.

Andy Griffith quit his series this past season, but careful selection of a new leading man, Ken Berry — and emphasis on the other characters — have kept the show going successfully under its fresh title: "Mayberry R. F. D."

"The Virginian" has had its cast changes, as I can attest ver personally. Several months ago, I was sold a cable television contract for my bet at home by a salesman who turned out to be a fake. The Virginian, he, along with others, is out of the program, but it keeps rolling along.

Jackie Gleason's series has had severe ups and downs, as the comedian himself admits with his customary frankness. The high points of the series invariably have been related to the regular appearances of Art Carney, as Gleason's pal in "The Honeymooners" segments. Whenever the show has relied on straight variety, the difference has been all too clear, and Carney's presence sorely missed.
